

December 6, 2014/

Multi-culture

Tomoka Kodama

Stevie Wonder

There are many famous African American people in the United States although they have terrible history with white American people. Stevie Wonder is a one of them, and he has been praised for his work by many people. On May 13 in 1950, Stevie was born in Saginaw, Michigan in the United States, but he had a condition in which the growth of the eye is aborted, so he cannot see any thing. However, he became a famous American musician because he has talent for music. Therefore, he has a lot of songs, which became famous such as Sir Duke, You Are The Sunshine Of My Life, and Lately. However, he had a car accident in 1973, and he lost the sense of smell and taste. Through the happening, he became interested in joining for Charity work, so he made many songs for peace. One of the examples is “Happy birthday” which is the song to praise Martin Luther King. Thus, he was appointed as a United Nations Messenger of peace in 2009. To sum up, he is a well-noted person because not only he has talent but also he did much work for people.